

Ninth Annual Rural Behavioral Health Practice Conference: Clinical Resources for Rural Practice

When: October 6, 2017 – Friday. For the detailed schedule in your time zone, see the conference website <http://www.mnpsych.org/rural-conference>.

Training Delivery Options: Group Webcast Sites for you to network locally while participating, or Individual Webcast available from your own computer.

Cost: $110; $90 Partner members; $25 FT students

Description: The purpose of the Rural Behavioral Health Practice Conference is to make quality continuing education accessible locally and affordably to behavioral health providers and researchers about the practice issues involved in working with rural people and communities. The Minnesota Psychological Association, an APA-approved CE sponsor, will award up to 7.5 continuing education credits.^{*} This activity is pending approval from a National Association of Social Workers chapter.

Theme: Clinical Resources for Rural Practice. Rural practitioners continually adapt their work to the needs of rural people and communities, as well as to new practice models and research. This conference will help you work with rural care's ethical and practice demands. It is designed for psychologists, social workers, counselors, psychiatric nurses, psychiatrists, and other behavioral health professionals with an interest in rural practice and is at the intermediate to advanced level.

Presentations:

- Jean Chagnon, Keynote, Relational Ethics - A Framework for Ethical Practice in Rural Settings
- J. David Bull, Chronic Disease Management: An Integrated Approach for Rural Populations
- Jonathan Neufeld, Using Video-based Telehealth to Supplement or Expand A Rural Mental Health Practice
- Dani E. Rosenkrantz and Melissa Zook, Rural LGBT Health Disparities and Implications for Behavioral Health Treatment
- Posters on cutting edge research in rural behavioral health

For more detailed information and to register, visit: <http://www.mnpsych.org/rural-conference>

Conference Coordinator: Kay Slama, Ph.D. slama@morris.umn.edu

^{*} "The Minnesota Psychological Association is approved by the American Psychological Association to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. The Minnesota Psychological Association maintains responsibility for this program and its content."